OUR MISSION

Workshop13 Cultural Arts and Learning Center is a rural non-profit arts innovator devoted to increasing the appreciation and accessibility of the arts, strengthening the creative life of our community through instruction, collaborations and arts-based initiatives.

ABOUT WORKSHOP13

We nurture creative exploration and artistic expression through classes and workshops in a variety of media for students of all ages and abilities.

- We cultivate a professional studio atmosphere for working artists and artisans, showcasing the breadth and talent that exists in the area.
- We gather community for performances and private celebrations in our exquisitely restored Grand Hall at our namesake address at 13 Church Street in Ware, MA.
- Classes are held at 13 Church Street as well as our ClayWorks pottery studios on Main Street, adjacent to our ArtWorks Gallery.

Our reach extends beyond the confines of the three-building campus. We partner with local, regional and statewide organizations to create accessible projects and public art that strengthens our community bonds through shared art making and creative place making. # JURORS

WE ARE VERY PLEASED AND HONORED TO HAVE THESE PRESTIGIOUS JURORS.

Born in Houston, Texas, John Asimacopoulos spent most of his childhood and formative years, outside the USA, in Greece and the United Kingdom. From a young age, he displayed an affinity to art; however, he initially decided to follow the family tradition of a career in the medical sciences. In 2010, he began his undergraduate studies for a BSc degree in BioMedical Sciences at King's College London, UK, followed by graduate school studies, for his MSc in Global Health and Development at University College London. During his studies in London, John rekindled his relationship with art. Realizing that he would be happiest pursuing a career path in Art, not the Medical Sciences, John declined a firm offer of admission to the School of Dentistry at King's College London. Returning in 2015 to the USA, John enrolled as a full-time student at The Academy Of Realist Art Boston. Presently, he teaches, part-time, as an Instructor for Figure Drawing and for Anatomy.

John has made extensive use of his knowledge of Clinical Anatomy and Dissection in his teaching, molding it into an Artistic Anatomy course for students. Anatomy has enhanced John's deep appreciation for the human form, which he is currently exploring in his personal work, through a series of narrative figure paintings.

Garrett Vitanza first attended the Academy of Realist Art when he was sixteen, participating in The "Old Master Workshop" instructed by Fernando Freitas. Garrett grasped the basic skills of oil painting covered in the workshop and executed a self-portrait which subsequently won first place in the National Congressional Art Competition in 2004. After graduating High School he moved to Toronto and studied for 3 years at the Academy of Realist Art. Since completing the program he has worked on several commissioned projects including murals. Garrett is currently working on a body of work that focuses on the figure and its relation to narrative and is continuing his education, pursuing a BFA at The School of The Museum of Fine Arts, Boston.
